BIRCH HILLS.

James Clarke, who has been sick for the past two months is again able to set to his work.

Thos Hourie, from East north of Hills, has removed up to Hills, owing to scarcity of water at his former residence. All living on East are obliged to drive cattle from one to two miles for water.

Geo. Taylor, sr., mail contractor, South Branch, has brought his stock to the Hills for the winter. His sons erected stables for them during the recent cold snap. Edwin Spence of Red Deer Hill has also brought over a large band of cattle to their Ass'n winter quarters.

Very little work is at present going on the almost impassable state of the roads; on occasions trips to Prince Albert for supplies being the greatest amount of travelling done.

All the settlers appear to have plenty on hand to feed their stock the remainder of winter.

Mr. T. Struthers, trapper, has erected an establishment at Hills, where he is passing the winter. He intends removing in spring.

Mr. A. Cadwallader, lost two or three horses out of his fine band lately. They are all supposed to have contracted cold, and the survivors are looking well.

The report that a man of this place had been badly frozen in coming from town was a "fake." He was not frozen—only "speechless."

Mr. Thos. Sanderson, of Kinistino passed here last week en route for the eastern provinces in the capacity of immigration agent. He had a few nice samples of grain with him.

Mrs. B Stevens is very ill. Fears of the results of her illness are entertained by her relatives and large circles of friends.

If reports are true, one of those "happy events" is likely to take place soon between two of our people.

PRINCE ALBERT, MARCH 8, 1893

A TESTED INDUSTRY.

The Saskatchewan district is noted for its luxuriant grasses of different varieties, thus making it particularly well adapted for the raising of all kinds of stock. Horses, cattle and sheep do well; both winter and summer. Only two, in the district, Mr. James Macarthur and Peter Fraser, as yet, have gone largely into sheep raising, and from their success we are led to infer, that sheep rising will be one of the most profitable industries in this district. Both Mr. Macarthur and Mr. Fraser have now large ranches. Their percentage of loss has been very small compared with the losses in the Western States and other parts of the North West Territories, which goes to show that this district is particularly adapted to sheep raising, and that in the very near future, sheep ranching will be one of the most profitable and successful industries of the Saskatchewan district. Sheep do well here on our nutritious prairie hay, one ton being sufficient to winter four head of sheep, and hay can be put up for less than $2 a ton, thus making the cost of wintering a sheep less than fifty cents a head. During the summer they range over the hills of our beautiful rolling prairie, and in the fall like our horses and cattle, are as fat as they can roll. It is said that there is one advantage in sheep raising, and that is, that the wool clip meets the necessary years expenses, and in places where large numbers are kept, more than meets the yearly expenses, and thus leaves the increase for profit. A very important consideration in the developement of every industry is to find a ready market for the samples, With the extension of the Manitoban and North-Western Railway to Prince Albert large trade can be done with Winnipeg, in fact, all the surplus stock can be easily disposed of in that city. As for the wool clip, it will always find a ready market, so that in the raising of sheep, farmers do not have so long to wait for a return of their labors. We understand that another sheep ranche will be started here during the summer by a wealthy gentleman from the old country. We believe there is no industry that anyone can engage in, in this district that will give better or more ready returns than sheepranching.

SCHOOL REPORT.

In another column will be found a full report of the Public School department of the Prince Albert Union School. These reports will appear monthly and it would be well for all those interested in the school to read it. Parents should endeavor as far as in their power, to keep their children regularly at school, otherwise they will not make any material progress in their studies. Regular and punctual attendance is necessary for the rapid advancement of the pupils. The number of half days absent in the month of February is greatly in excess of the half-days absent in the month of January, but has been caused by many of the pupils having been kept home from severe colds. Parents should endeavor to get their children away from home in the morning in good time, so that the necessity of recording lates might be avoided. The days are now gradually lengthening out, and the weather is getting much milder, so that the attendance now should be more punctual and regular. By this monthly report the parents will see whether their children get to school in time, and the exact number of days missed by each pupil during the month. The report shows 119 pupils enrolled in the Public School Branch, with an average attendance of 93, which give an average percentage of attendance of 78. This is a high average of attendance, but with a little effort on the part of the parents may be very much increased. Our school is large, commodious and comfortable, and well furnished, and has an excellent staff of teachers, of which any school district might well feel proud. It is, however, the duty of the parents of every child to give every aid to the teachers for the proper performance of their arduous duties by sending their children regular. There is another duty we would like to press upon the parents of the children, and that is to dwell around now and again, and enquire how their boy or girl is getting on. This invariably pleases the children and is encouraging to the teachers when they know that the parents of the children seem to take more than a passing interest in their welfare.

MECHANICS AND LITERARY INSTITUTE.

On Friday evening the 3rd inst. there was organized an institution which promises to be a permanent and valuable aid in the progress of our town in the element of higher culture. The Mechanics and Literary Institute of Prince Albert is, we believe, the first which has been organized in the Territories and we have every reason to believe that it will be of permanent value to all our citizens. In the older provinces such Institutes have filled an important position in the educational system, although not recognized as an ordinary part of that system. The Institute comes in between the school and the commencement of business or professional life, and may be of great value to young people as well as those of mature years. The Prince Albert Institute has, we believe, a legitimate claim upon the liberality of our Town Council. A room in the new town hall might, we should think, be given, and a financial grant would not be out of place. In eastern towns it is very usual for such accomodation to be given to such Institutions and we hope that our city fathers will not be behind hand. We wish all prosperity to the new Institute.

KINISTINO.

This District extends about 156 miles from east to west and about 76 miles from north to south. Its western boundary is the line between Ranges 23 and 24, west of the second Meridian of the Dominion Lands surveys, its northern boundary the line between Townships 47 and 48, it southern boundary is coterminous with the northern boundary of Assiniboia, and its eastern with the western country. The eastern portion of the District is as yet but little known, and this description is necessarily confined to the western portion. The Birch and Manitchinas Hills, which run through the centre of the district, are principally wooded with poplar and birch. The lower land is part prairie and partly bush, the prairie dotted with bluffs and sloughs, the latter producing luxuriant hay. The higher portions are well adapted for wheat, and the lower portions for mixed farming. The soil varies from sandy loam on the high ground to clay on the low ground. The sub-soil is clay mixed with limestone.

The scenery is a repetition of rolling prairie, a portion of which represents the whole, and which must be seen to realize its grandeur and beauty. The following is a view obtained from the western border. We have mounted the brow of a hill and as we look, the ground seems to be receding from us in a series of arcs bounded by lines of low trees, over which we look upon what appears as dots of shining silver. After looking for a time we notice that the lines seem to rise to meet the dots and then again appear glistening silvery lines, one of which we know to be Long Lake. This is not far from the South Saskatchewan river. Southward the view is obscured by the folds that cover the hills, while the eastern portion seen about 10 or 12 miles away, forms a break. Here is bush scenery, and as we reach it we find a rolling country having a beauty of its own but less than the former. Then comes an almost level stretch of prairie until we have gone about 8 or 10 miles from the Carrot River, or second view, or about 25 or 30 miles from the starting point. All this is bounded on the south by a gradually-rising line of hills, save where here and there we see a gully whose banks seem to be precipitous. To the north of the first 15 or 20 miles is principally hay lands which cannot be surveyed except from the heights. The second and third views are separated by the Carrot River, while the eastern boundary of the plain is Bear Creek. Then the country rises again repeating the view and giving what is known as the Stony Creek country.

This district is practically free from all diseases. It is healthy owing to its elevated position. There has been but one death from natural causes in 13 years. The average summer heat is 70 Farenheit, in winter about zero. Spring opens about March 15 to 20 and time April 15 or earlier, harvest about August 20. Winter begins about November 15. The cold is not so intense as to prevent a man from working at any outdoor employment such as getting rails, timber, wood, etc. All grain is marketed in the winter. Those having hay at a distance leave it until winter to draw it home.

The crops growing here are wheat, oats, barley, peas, turnips, potatoes, carrots, mangolds, parsnips, beets, rhubarb and onions. All the vegetables of Ontario, except such as melon have been raised here with great success. The climate and soil are particularly well adapted for the production of the grain and vegetables named. Vegetables and roots grow to an enormous size. The average yields of grain are: Wheat 30 bush. an acre, oats 50, barley 40, peas 30, potatoes about 500 bush. and turnips about 1000, and the rest in proportion. If the farmers here put as much work on these crops as is done in the older provinces the yield would far exceed these figures.

The district is well adapted to stock-raising, there being almost unlimited supply of natural grasses, both for summer and winter use, also a plentiful supply of good water. The principal kind of cattle raised here at present are grade Durhams. The sheep are crossed, such as Downs, Leicesters and Merinos. Sheep and cattle raising is a very profitable industry here. General purpose horses are considered the most profitable for this district. All classes of horses thrive well here. Owing to the distance we are at present from a market for our grain, stock raising has been the main industry, and has been very successful. Live stock is shipped out both East and West, at a good profit. Pigs also do well.

The greater portion of the district is well adapted for dairying owing to the peculiar luxuriance and richness of the grass, there being abundance of hay for winter feed and plenty of pure water with cool night temperature. So far the home demand has exceeded the supply of dairy produce. The settlers being so scattered no cheese or butter factories have been established, but a number of settlers are making cheese for which they get 12½ cents a lb. in the home market.

There is plenty of timber for all domestic purposes. On almost every section of land there is wood for fuel and timber for building at convenient distance. There is plenty of land open for free homesteading, and owing to the second homestead system there are a number of first homesteads in the market within a convenient distance of schools and churches. Land can be bought at from $3 to $10 an acre. There is plenty of wood and stone and wood for building, also plenty of limestone and good building sand. The district is well supplied with good water for both live stock and domestic use. Water is found from the surface down to 50 feet.

Wheat is now fetching 70c. a bushel butter 25c a pound, and eggs 25c. a dozen. There is a good prospect of the Manitoban and Northwestern railway being extended through the district this year, the line being already surveyed. This extension will afford excellent market facilities. There are a number of public schools, and the education given is of a satisfactory nature and at a comparatively small cost to the settlers. We are well supplied with churches and in sparsely settled localities there is a number of visiting clergymen of the Episcopalian, Presbyterian and Methodist denominations. Wild fruit, such as white and black currants, gooseberries, strawberries, raspberries, high and low bush cranberries, blueberries, huckleberries and cherries are abundant, also wild hops. The whole country is a natural flower bed. There are some deer, bear and moose, also plenty of wild fowl, such as ducks, geese, grouse and partridges. There is also a plentiful supply of fish, the wild animals are wolves, fox, lynx, skunk, muskrat mink, badger, marten, beaver and fisher.

The roads are good and all streams and sloughs are bridged on the main roads. Incoming settlers can procure seed grain and the necessary stock for farming purposes at reasonable prices. There is a regular weekly mail through the district with a P.O. at Brancepeth Kinistino and Melfort.

The Canadian Magazine

There has just been issued the first number (March) of a new magazine and national review, devoted to politics, science, art and literature, and known as "The Canadian Magazine." It is to be published monthly by the Ontario Publishing Co., Ltd., a strong company, the first directors of which are Hon. J. C. Patterson, Minister of Militia; Hon. Thos. Ballantyne, Speaker of the Ontario Legislature; Thos. Mulvey, Barrister; Jno. Ferguson, M.D.; Garratt F. Frankland, T. H. Best, J. Gordon Mowat, L.L.B., M.D., and E. Stewart, C.E., while the stock list includes the names also of W. R. Meredith, Q.C., M.P.P.; D. Wylie, M.P.P.; Attorney-General Longley and other well known men. Mr. J. Gordon Mowat (Morse Oates), is the editor. The list of contributors includes many of the most prominent men in Canadian public life, amongst them Hon. Wilfred Laurier, R. S. White, M.P., A. McNeil, M.P., Hon. David Mills and other statesmen, and a large number also of able and graceful writers on a variety of popular topics. The current issue contains a good variety of articles. D'Alton McCarthy, Q.C., M.P., deals with "The Manitoba Public School Law," and Principal Grant with "Anti National Features of the National Policy." Rev. W. S. Blackstock in a well written article, "The Norsemen the Discoverers of America," attacks Columbus and presents much that is new to most readers regarding ante-Columbian discoveries and settlement on this continent. Prof. Wm. Clark, of Trinity College, writes thoughtfully of "Conduct and Manner." "In the Shadow of the Arctic" is the title of an illustrated article on Hudson's Bay, by W. W. Fox. "Some Modernisms of the Stage" are chattily discussed by Hector W. Charlesworth. J. H. Cameron in a charming, well illustrated article describes the Latin Quarter of Paris, and Uncle Thomas in "The Regenators" humorously compares city and country life in their adaptions to people with "fads." "Sir Lancelot," a brilliant addition to the Arthurian Legends, by W. W. Campbell, "The Birds' Lullaby," a very pretty short poem by E. Pauline Johnson, and an "Imitation of Horace," by S. P. Morse, comprise the poetic contributions. Two stories, "Which Is It?" a character study, by E. J. Toker, and "An Open Window," a thrilling Canadian story by Wm. T. James, make up the literary contents. The illustrations are good. The magazine should meet with the cordial support of every intelligent Canadian. The subscription is $2.50 per annum. Publishers: The Ontario Publishing Co., Ltd., Manning Arcade, Toronto.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S CROWN.

A List of the Valuable Jewels It Contains.

The crown of the queen of Great Britain and Ireland, made in 1838 by Rundel & Bridge, has been estimated to be of the value of £300,000. It weighs, says the Retail Jeweler, nearly 2 pounds and comprises more than 3,000 precious stones, of which five-sixths are diamonds. The lower part of the band is a row of 129 pearls, the upper part of 118. Between them, in front, is a large sapphire. Behind is a smaller sapphire, with 6 others and 8 emeralds. Between the two great sapphires are ornaments containing 263 diamonds. Above the band are 8 sapphires surmounted by 8 diamonds and 8 festoons, containing 169 diamonds. In the front of the crown is the ruby given to the black prince by Pedro, king of Castille. This is set in a Maltese cross, and forming the cross are 75 large diamonds.

Three other crosses, containing 386 diamonds, are around the upper part of the crown. Between the four crosses are four ornaments with four rubies in the center, and containing respectively eighty-four, eighty-six, eighty-five and eighty-seven diamonds. From the Maltese crosses rise four arches, composed of oak leaves and acorns, the leaves containing 726 diamonds. The thirty-two acorns are each of a single pearl, and are set in cups made of fifty-four diamonds. Above the arches stands the mound, containing 548 diamonds, and above the mound is the cross, containing a very large sapphire, four very large and 108 smaller diamonds. All the stones are genuine, and not, as in some other European crowns, colored glass, which has replaced the genuine stones.

ARTIFICIAL FLOWERS.

It Is Hard to Distinguish Them from the Natural.

"What an idea! Bless you, florists are bad enough, but they have not yet stooped so low as to hire out flowers for funerals." Thus spoke a dealer in fancy nosegays the other day.

"But you loan doves to undertakers sometimes?"

"Yes, and to the churches on special occasions; but loaning flowers for a funeral, why, it is simply preposterous!"

"It is said to be done every day in this city."

"Yes, there are dealers in artificial flowers who do that business, but not florists."

I visited a large artificial flower and foliage concern.

"A great many poor people," said a member of the firm, "order potted flowers and tropical plants of us for funerals. We charge ten per cent for their use, and in many instances the flowers might better have been purchased out and out. Take our foliage boxwoods, composed of begonias, coleus, geraniums and ivy—they come cheap, and it is poor economy to hire them. But people of small means like the immediate saving, and the long run is not taken into account. For church funerals we sell large quantities of chrysanthemums, roses, tiger and calla lilies, hyacinths, etc. Natural flowers are sometimes represented on the same altar, and it is impossible to tell which is which. The imitation of common flowers has been reduced to a fine art. One can hardly believe how rapidly artificial plants have sprung into favor, even among the rich. They are used in ball rooms, theaters, restaurant windows, stores and almost everywhere. We have some well-known varieties so skillfully made that they would deceive the most learned botanist at a little distance.—N. Y. Herald.

A Valuable Voice.

There are heights to be reached in every profession, and it is not to be wondered at if those of his own profession are considered superior to those of any other by the enthusiastic artist. Martin, the popular French singer, found food for reflection in an experience which he had with a cab driver. The incident is related by the author of "Souvenirs d'un Chanteur." Martin had a voice of great compass and most agreeable sound, of which he was decidedly proud. He had a weakness for drawing out compliments upon it. One day as he was being driven through the streets of Paris in a cab he saw some one passing carelessly in front of the cab and in danger of being run over. "Whoa!" he cried, in his most sonorous tones. The coachman turned around excitedly. "O! monsieur!" he cried, "what a beautiful 'whoa!' Ah! if I only had a voice like that!" "Well, what would you do if you had?" asked Martin, with a smile, believing that he had been recognized, and pleased at the idea that his reputation extended even to the drivers in the streets. "What would I do, monsieur? Faith, I should become the first coachman in Paris!"—Youth's Companion.

Weight of the Body.

Quartelet obtained some weight records of note, but no reliance can be placed in them in the light of modern observation. He concluded from such statistics as he could get that a new-born infant was, on the average, one-twentieth the maximum weight in middle life; that during the first year after birth the increment of weight is about one-tenth of all that is added subsequently, and that between the fifteenth and twentieth years more is added to the weight than during any other five-year period of life. However, individual instances differ so widely that very little reliance can be placed in the results he obtained. That Quartelet's statistics of weight were incomplete and unsatisfactory is shown by the fact that he did not detect the interesting law recently recognized, viz., that the weight increases slowly, or even diminishes, when the height is increasing very rapidly, but increases rapidly when the height remains nearly stationary.—Detroit Free Press.

The Army of Turkey.

According to the new military laws of the Turkish empire the Turkish army on a war footing will be increased shortly from 700,000 to 1,000,000 men. With this prospective increase has come the necessity for a new arming of the sultan's soldiers. Cannon for the new artillery will not be ordered for some time, probably, as the army has 1,000 large guns. Only about 400 of these are mounted and ready for the field. The equipment of the other 600 will be begun at once. The Turkish cavalry still has Winchester carbines and will retain them for a short time. The infantry has 500,000 Henry-Martini rifles and 200,000 Mauser rifles of 9.5 millimeters caliber. An order was placed in Austria a short time ago, moreover, for 280,000 Mannlicher rifles of 7.5 millimeters caliber.

A Saying.

Before you go to war pray once; before you go to sea pray twice; before you get married pray three times.—Judge.

CAN YOU TELL A Sponge? WHEN YOU SEE IT.

Probably you couldn't if you were to see one in the natural state. One would, not recognize in the dark—almost black—substance full of mud, sand and shells the light yellow soft affairs of our shops. The network of elastic fibres which remains behind after the living matter has been removed is the skeleton of the animal which is the sponge of commerce. There is a great difference in sponges. A very interesting exhibit is going to Chicago for exhibition at the great assemblage of the nations which takes place there this summer, It is a complete suit of clothes, made by Mrs. Calder, after the style of a northern tribe of Indians and consists of coats, leggings, head-dresses, ornaments, &c., &c., for an Indian brave and his squaw. The material employed is of the best and the workmanship throughout is highly artistic. Mrs. Calder has taken nearly a whole year in the preparation of this unique exhibit and she deserves great credit for sending a collection of articles which are now rarely seen, and of great value. We have no doubt but that the exhibit will be much admired by the visitors at the fair as well as the judge, and that Mrs. Calder will receive a substantial reward for her pains.

The March number of "Tales from Town Topics," which is No. 7 of the series, shows no abatement of vivacious interest, and the new prize novelette that starts off the volume, entitled, "The Cousin of the King," written by Adrian Shale Van Westrum, is a particularly thrilling and successful piece of fiction. It is the story of a foreign adventurer, who attempts to win the hand of a rich American heiress, but is balked in the game just on the eve of victory. The tale is one of moving interest, and is marked by strong character drawing and dramatic action. The collection of short stories, sketches, points and witticisms is as sparkling and spicy as one could wish Altogether, Tales from Town Topics No 7 is a readable and clever book that all smart people must enjoy.—Town Topics, 21 West Twenty third street, New York

A Convention of those interested in the work of Young People's Societies of Christian Endeavor will be held at Regina on Easter Sunday and Monday, April 2nd and 3rd, 1893 The committee of the North West Union invite and expect delegates from all parts of the Territories. A similar convention was held about a year ago at Regina at which Dr. Clark—the founder of the movement—was present. The meeting was very enthusiastic and gave this work a good start in the Territories. There is every promise of the coming convention being an excellent one While Dr. Clark will not be present, one of the leaders of the work is expected from Boston, Mass. Societies are requested to send in at once full statistics and the names of their delegates, to the Secretary of the Union at Regina. Reduced railway rates and free billets at Regina will be secured for all visiting delegates.

LORD KILCOURSIE SPEAKS

We desire to call attention to the Great Winter Competition of 1892, which is now being conducted by the Canadian Agriculturist and Home Journal, published at Peterborough, Canada. The Agriculturist has gained a reputation in the past for fair dealing in connection with these competitions, and the future will be no exception of the rule Those who care to compete can do so free of charge. All they have to do is to prepare a list of English words made from the letters in the two words, 'Columbian Exposition.' The rules are that no letter can be used oftener than appears in the two words above named, or can the names of persons or places be used. Foreign words are also barred The following prizes are:- 1st, $2,500; 2nd $1,000; 3rd, $500; 4th, $250; 5th, $100; besides pianos, organs, gold watches, 5,000 elegant dinner services, etc, making a total of over 10,000 splendid prizes All who send in 100 correct words will receive a special prize. Take a few sheets of paper, prepare a list of words made up from the letters in the two words above quoted, and enclose $1 for six months subscription to one of the choicest and best publications on the continent, and you will have a really first class magazine to read, and may secure $2,5000 in gold into the bargain. The Agriculturist always carries out its promises to the very letter, as the following, from Lord Kilcoursie, the Governor General's Secretary, will testify.

Government House,
Ottawa Ont., Jan 16th, 1893.

SIR,—It will give me great pleasure to recommend my friends to enter your competition I am, Sir,

Your obedient servant,
"KILCOURSIE, A D C."
